FROM LBSRA PRESIDENT

Well with a 2013 Spring and Summer tournament season behind us for the most part being very successful I congratulate all of the LBSRA members that participated, a job well done. Every thing works out, we have gained more tournament and we have acquired the Santa Ana YMCA in door ADULTleague. This Fall season is just around the corner. We will have both CSL and SCDSL games. Both Lee Harmon, and myself will be attending the meeting for SCDSL. Then Lee, Ardy, and myself will be attending the CSL meeting which we will be picking up the books also to be handed out. Make sure you get the books or go online and get the rules and fees. When you get your assignments find out where the fields are. There will be no excuse to the assignors of "oh I didn't know where the field was" or "I couldn't find the field. Also don't show up late, if you show up late or don't show up for a game call your assignor and let him know. Don't worry we find these things out from the directors of the leagues. Plan on paying a find if either on of the above happens. It's money out of your pocket so if you don't want to donate it to a worthy cause get the game on time. The assignors will let you know how to sign in on the web sites for both SCDSL and CSL which you will have to do to get games.

Be prepared to start doing SCDSL & CSL games in the coming months. We will have plenty of fields to keep everyone busy. Let your assignors know your availability each week either by email or by phone. The more you keep in contact with assignors the more likely you will receive the games you want.

The Cerritos tournament was very successful. To all our members that did games a job well done. As always there was a few incidents during the three days but most minor. There was some of us that showed up late for games. There is no excuse for showing up late every one has the coordinators cell phone numbers so you need to call. Don't wait until 10 min before game time and call to say I am lost and can't find the site. Guarantee you will be late. Always plan ahead for your assignment.

Staring to get hot out on the pitch so make sure you bring plenty of liquids and snacks if you need them to do your games and most of you do more than 3 or 4 games. BE PREPARED FOR YOUR GAMES.

Good News Update from Larry Yee

Welcome to Long Beach Soccer Referee Association new soccer business year starting 6/01/2013 to 5/31st/2014. Very important to express appreciation to all active and guest referees LBSRA assigns to keep our happy Cal South youth tournaments going. Tournament coverage along other adult games, both indoor and outdoor is why keeps soccer referees busy at LBSRA.

These days, many soccer referees are members of other Cal South soccer referee organizations. Most of the year, there is never a shortage of referees to assign. Very important the referee stay's in touch with the association's Assignor. Open honest communications and letting assignor know of your soccer officiating needs is a positive environment in getting assigned games.

No matter what, all of us are members of United States Soccer Federation, out of Chicago. We are one big happy family of soccer officials, working a common goal to call soccer game, fair, firm and always protect the player's. Now a days, LBSRA is so honored and proud of the many young referees ages 13 to 18 being assigned to important play-off games and finals.

Lots and lots of pressure from coaches, parents, and player's keeping our young soccer officials on their toes. Future LBSRA Youth mentor group is strong, positive, and exciting to see when they work together with positive mentor input from our field site evaluator's.

So goes our youth referees so goes referees in the age group of 19 to 35. These are soccer officials who wish to move to USSF State referee Badge.

Dealing with adult games in general is tough, tough, tough. A soccer official doing these games needs to be fair, firm, and apply good verbal gamesmanship skills without being pressured and forced to suspend games in general.

Encourage any soccer official to get upgraded is always constant.

Adult games going on or will be happening: 6/23, 1 ref. system ladies tournament games city of North Orange county YMCA 6/29

1 ref. system men's games tournament in city of Santa Ana and Irvine, Ca.

Indoor arena soccer, YMCA sites in city of Mission Viejo, Fullerton, and newest one, Santa Ana (toughest games here).

City of Los Alamitos week-nite and Sunday men's/ladies games.

North Orange County YMCA adult soccer games

Eastvale/Corona /Ontario adult soccer games

7/7 begins city of Chino Hills adult summer league.

Many times soccer referees take the verbal heat from player's personally during the game when all it is player gamesmanship at its best.

Continue working and calming down these adult passionate player's.

Continue to be available for summer youth tournaments, LBSRA is responsible for.

Here is the summer youth tournament schedule. Number of fields is unknown.

7/13 7/14 PSA Canyon North Orange County areas

7/27 7/28 2 youth tournaments in cities of Long Beach and Los Alamitos and Cerritos areas.

8/3 8/4 FC Irvine Girls tournament

8/10 8/11 will be very busy with JUSA Recreation, FC Irvine Boys, and FC Long Beach

8/17 8/18 Orange Soccer Club

8/24 8/25 Huntington Beach Strikers, Girls side only and proposed city of Anaheim youth tournament

8/31 9/01 JUSA Chelsea Club youth tournament

As you see, LBSRA looks busy depending of number of tournament fields and adult leagues.

Pretty soon year 2014 USSF Registration will begin Sept. 2013 to 3/2014.

Keep the good work out there and attend as many monthly referee meetings within Cal South referee groups.

Ladies & Gentlemen, as the new year for LBSRA approaches you should be aware of your obligations to the association. All current information must be correct on the roster & check register so the check can be addressed properly. In the past we have had checks returned due to a change of address not reported to the Secretary A J Patel or the Treasurer Larry Taylor. If you need to contact me my e-mail address is on the website. Remember this is the start of a new year June 1, everything has to be like a start of a new season (blank).

Ever have coaches start to question most all of your calls or lack of calls? How about it gets worse when their team is losing and they think you are not calling the game fair? How about one of them sees every contact against their player as a foul? You are being ambushed, a complaint is likely and with a little preparation you could have avoided all this.

If you want to have a better outcome next time, on your drive home replay segments of the game in your head and try to figure out why the coach was criticizing the ref team. What could you have done or should have done. You might be thinking I was right and the coach was wrong. Yes, some coaches just don't know any better but some are also playing gamesmanship, and yet others have fair criticism of us. So how will you adapt to get a better outcome? Here's some tips:

- Command authority and respect before you walk on to the field. Look like a referee, properly dressed, look clean and crisp, walk with shoulders square and create an air of authority, but don't be bullish;
- Perception and image are huge – be physically fit and then don't be lazy during the game. Hustle;
- Recognize the problem players early and be on their tail – talk to them early, speak to them loudly (not rudely!) so that others can hear and see that you are looking to manage the game –practice tone, choice of words and how your face will look in the mirror at home – angry look or voice is NOT the way to handle younger players, stern look and stern voice works better for older players;
- When talking to team officials, shake hands, ask for paperwork, fees etc. Don't be smart and get drawn into gamesmanship such as “ref, you know how to call offside right, because we play a tight offside line?” One response might be, “smile” and say “I am familiar with offside”. Now move away and recognize you might have a difficult coach so get with your AR's and discuss how you will handle;
- Set the tone before the game – AR to tell coaches to stay in technical area, if none, don't let them step on the field or get in way of AR to see down the line. Always be firm but polite, for many of you this is an area of growth – it takes courage, but set the tone early. Again, practice in front of mirror at home what you might say, use the handy record button if you have a smart phone and listen to how you sound, also check the mirror to see your facial expression – you should not shout or have an angry demeanor;
- Don't give the coaches an excuse to talk to the center referee during the game, how? – before the game starts, AR's to tell coaches that when they want to sub, coach must let AR know ahead of time and to not yell to CR “sub”. AR will then notify CR at next sub opportunity. CR should only look to AR's for standard sub signal on every dead ball and not in response to hearing “sub”.
- AR to ensure all spectators are at least 3 yards back from touch line where field space permits you to do this. Give them an inch more and they'll take a yard, so set the tone before the game starts. If you're not sure how to do this, go watch Carlos Kirsch, he does it consistently every game with a smile and has no problems with spectators;
- Adjust the way in which you will call fouls based on the game level and gender. Generally, in boys games, coaches and spectators seem to accept more of the physical play. However, in girls' games below U14, in my experience, there seems to be more resentment against physical play. So keep an ear open for the sideline and if you hear rumblings, don't wait for thunder and lightning, tweak what you call and then be consistent. I am not saying you ignore the LOTG, but maybe, contact is too “aggressive” and calls need to be made to tone the game down – it's about flow and control.

Consistent application of the above will help ensure for positive outcomes for all and leave you feeling a job well done.
